

LOLLING JAWN MACE PROVES MAN OF HOUR

In Ninth Inning, Two Down, Score 1 and 1, He Slams Drive to Centre Field Which Scores Winning Tally--Burke and Carter Are Other Clouters--Ayers and Finneran Both in Fine Fettle.

BY GUS MALBERT.

Jawn Henry Mace lolled around the local yard yesterday afternoon in his most pleasing manner for nine full innings. There was nothing particularly graceful about Jawn's lol, though it was the first time he had lolled for many days, a finger more or less incapacitated necessitating his retirement. But, anyway, as they say in the story books, Jawn really lolled yesterday until everybody was ready to go home. Then Jawn broke up one of the prettiest of ball games of the season, made Charlie Shaffer forget his smiles and his trousers, and likewise made fourth place a cinch for our Colts, so far as the present series with the Tars is concerned. The score was 2 to 1.

One other person was directly interested in the result of that ball game and his interest was effectively expressed. Frank Burke, who has come to be renowned throughout the South and North of the Virginia League as a clouter of ability, made it possible for Jawn to make himself exceedingly popular. Joe Finneran was the posessive youth whom Charlie Shaffer selected to get whaled, and Burke was the young man upon whom Griffin depended as the shadow of evening. Griffin gathered two who had been easily retired. Burke leaned heavily against a shoot which tore across the outside corner of the rubber, and it bounded off Jack Flourney with such much speed that Burke had whiled most scores and was almost able to complete the hit back amidfield.

CUBS BEAT GIANTS THREE OUT OF FOUR

Wiltse Knocked Out in Second and Lavender Benched in Sixth.

BOSTON LOSES TO ST. LOUIS

Brooklyn and Cincinnati Each Win One Game of Double-Header.

Chicago, July 11.—The Cubs made it three out of the four in the series with the Giants, the Chicagoans winning today's game 1 to 7. Wiltse was knocked out of the box in the second, and Lavender was benched in the sixth, when the Giants had the bases full, one run across and none out. Cheney finally retired the visitors, but not until they had chased in five tallies. The Cubs won the game in the eighth when Sheppard put one in the right field seats for a homer. The game was loosely played.
